

Pappas Telecasting Companies' 'donation' of $325,000 in airtime to Republican candidates in certain areas is yet another example of a big media group abusing its privileged access to the public airwaves.

The public interest is not served when a corporation decides to provide only one side. During election season, local audiences should be offered genuine two-sided coverage.

Pappas uses the public airwaves free of charge and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

Thanks for your time
